ROBBERS FAIL AT FALMOUTH

Effort to Rob Safe Fails and Yeggen Enter Jacob Gross Elevator Across the Street

NO CASH IS OBTAINED

Robbers Carry Revolver and Searchlight From Bank, But Make no Attempt to Blow Vault

ALSO VISIT BENTONVILLE

Steal From $8 to $10 at Pennsylvania Station—Strangers at Falmouth Bank Recently

Falmouth and Bentonville were visited by robbers during the night, where an attempt was made to get inside of the vault at the Falmouth bank, and in the safe at the Gross Elevator, also of Falmouth, and entrance made into the Pennsylvania railroad station at Bentonville, where between $8 and $10 were taken. No money was taken from the other two places.

As far as could be learned, no one in either of the two towns heard any noise, and the robberies were not discovered until daylight.

At the Falmouth Bank, the robbers forced their way in at the rear door, and instead of attempting to blow the vault door, the robbers began to bore through the plastering wall in hopes of reaching the interior of the safe.

The wall was very thick and after a considerable amount of plastering had been knocked off, they evidently abandoned their plans and went almost across the street to the Jacob Gross elevator.

At the bank, the only things missing this morning were a revolver and a searchlight. On the day of the robbery of the Pershing bank, on the National road northeast of Falmouth, three men were in Falmouth and stopped at the bank, and the cashier of the bank displayed a revolver at his window, and the trio soon left the town.

At the grain elevator the robbers pried open a window near the safe, and after getting on the inside they opened the outer door of the safe, but evidently gave up their hopes of getting on the inside where the valuables are kept. Mr. Gross did not discover anything missing today, and the robbers evidently were frightened away or else they were not prepared to blow a safe.

Up at Bentonville, four miles northeast of Falmouth, the robbers pried open the door at the station and ransacked the money drawer, which Calvin Rohlfon, the agent, stated contained between $8 and $10 in cash and which was taken. Nothing else was missed at the station.

At all three places the robbers missed things up, and scattered papers and articles all over the floor. There were no clues left by the robbers.

CONVENTION IN ROW OVER HOWAT CASE

Pres. Lewis of United Mine Workers Calls Illinois Delegate a Liar In Debate

ACCUSATION AGAINST LEWIS

(By United Press)
Ohio National Guard Armory, Cincinnati, June 20.—The American Federation of Labor got into a row today over Alexander Howat, Kansas mine leader now in prison.

During a heated debate on a resolution congratulating Howat and August Dorehy, another mine leader, for their "courageous and steadfast determination to uphold the law," John L. Lewis called Joe Lynam of Peoria, Illinois, a liar.

Lynam, one of the authors of the resolution, charged Lewis was responsible for putting Howat and Dorehy in jail, and said Lewis double-crossed them. "The gentleman is a liar," said Lewis.

The resolutions committee had recommended that the Howat resolution be referred to the United Mine Workers. Lynam objected to this, asserting that the American Federation of Labor is now trying to double-cross Howat the way John Lewis double-crossed him.

Lewis made a joint of order against Lynam, which President Gompers sustained. Lynam refused to be squelched, however, and continued to attack Lewis. When Gompers insisted that Lynam quit indulging in personalities, Lynam responded that he "couldn't help it." He declared Howat was in prison for trying to uphold the laws of the United Mine Workers.

ASA MILLER ADMITS MURDER OF FATHER

Young Farmer Confesses to Killing of George Miller, 74, at His Home Near Petersburg

BODY FOUND LATE MONDAY

(By United Press)

Petersburg, Ind., June 20.—Asa Miller, 34, sitting on a cot in the county jail here today calmly told Sheriff Bryant why he killed his father, George Miller, 74, the sheriff said today.

The father's body was found late Monday by Charles Vaughn, a farmer in the yard of Miller's home, one mile west of Belten. The victim's head had been battered with a fence picket.

According to the coroner, the man had been dead since Friday. It all happened over some mules, Sheriff Bryant said Miller told him.

"My father refused to let me sell the mules, which I new I partly owned. We had an argument and he ran out of the house with a corn knife. He was almost upon me when I picked up the picket."

"Yes I hit him and I am not sorry of it either."

Unshaven, dressed in overalls, wearing a straw hat and gum boots, Miller slept soundly at the jail last night.

The coroner's investigation brought out that Miller and his father had quarrelled over the way the farm work should be done and that Miller struck his father over the head with the post.

Young Miller, according to the coroner, had served several years in prison for murdering a man in a Western state, and that he had also had attacked and beaten his father several years ago.

LAND SURVEYORS TO BE REGISTERED

Attention Called to Provisions of New Law in Letter Received by Local Officials

ALLOW LEEWAY OF 6 MONTHS

Act Effective May 31, 1922 Provides For Examination Before a License is Issued

Attention is called to the provisions of the law passed by the last general assembly, which became effective May 31 of this year, in letters received by Rush county and Rushville officials from the state board of registration for professional engineers and land surveyors.

The date beyond which it became unlawful to practice engineering or land surveying unless registered was December 31, 1921, the letter said. Those practicing at the time the act became effective were eligible for registration without examination until May 31, this year.

The letter continues:

"Section 1 states that it shall be unlawful for any persons to practice or offer to practice professional engineering or land surveying in Indiana unless such person has been duly registered under the provisions of this act.

"Section 13 provides that any person practicing or offering to practice after the act has been in effect six months (December 1, 1921), or who shall misrepresent his status, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall for each offense of which he is convicted be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500), or by imprisonment for three months, or by both fine and imprisonment."

"The act provides that each registrant shall obtain a seal of the design prescribed by the board, bearing the registrant's name and registration number and the legend 'professional engineer' or 'land surveyor' and this seal should appear on plans or plats submitted for filing or approval.

"There is on file with the secretary of state, as required by the act, a roster of all professional engineers and land surveyors granted certificates of registration by this board and this information is forwarded you that your attention may be called to the provisions of the act.

"The secretary of this board will be glad to furnish you further information upon request. A printed roster giving the names of all registered professional engineers and land surveyors will be mailed to you, upon request, as soon as same is available.

"What the board wished to do in sending out this letter was to warn local government officials against being duped in the letting of public contracts," DeWitt V. Moore, secretary of the board said. "The board itself has no power to enforce the act, but it desires to warn those who do have the power to report and prosecute violations of the law."

INTERFERENCE BY MINERS MUST STOP

Gov. McCray Informs Sheriff at Vincennes Full Power of State Will be Invoked if Needed

THREAT TO STORM BRAZIL JAIL

(By United Press)

Vincennes, Ind., June 20.—Full power of state government will be invoked to prevent interference with non-union wagon coal mines by striking miners if necessary, Governor McCray informed Sheriff Harry Adams in a letter today.

The governor advised Sheriff Adams to appoint as many deputies as he considered necessary to stop intimidation of miners working in the open shop mines. If these are not sufficient to cope with the situation, the governor said the whole power of the state will be thrown into the fight.

There are sixteen mines in Knox county and only eight of them failed to operate their property. Many of the mines in this county and other counties in the southern Indiana coal fields have been visited recently by raids of strikers. Warrants will be sworn out for the arrest of one hundred and fifty of the raiders.

Brazil, Ind., June 20.—Six hundred striking miners threatened to storm the jail where thirty-nine miners were held charged with inciting riot in closing wagon mines in Staunton last Wednesday.

Only on the plea of David Jones, executive board member of District 11 who persuaded the leaders to delay their action until the men had been given a chance to give bond, did the rioters disperse.

EVIDENCE IN TWO CASES IS HEARD

Judge Kenneth Dresser of State Industrial Board Holds Court in Rushville Today

WACHENDORF CLAIM IS FIRST

Records Showing Patrolman Was Killed, Are Introduced—T. J. Evans Seeks Compensation

The state industrial board was in session here this morning hearing the evidence on three cases filed with them for compensation under the workman's compensation law, and two of the cases were disposed of this morning and taken under advisement, while the third case was dismissed without trial.

Judge Kenneth Dresser of the state board and his stenographer were here and conducted the cases, and the evidence will be laid before the other members for decisions.

In the matter in which the City of Rushville was defendant, as filed by Mrs. Fred Wachendorf, widow of a city patrolman who was shot and killed, the case was soon put before the board without the introduction of witnesses.

In this action several points of law were to be considered by the board which will include a decision as to whether a murder is an accident. The compensation law covers accidents sustained by employes while employed and performing such duties as assigned.

Records were introduced to show that the policeman had been employed by the council. His hours were from noon until midnight, and the shooting took place shortly after midnight. The judge stated that witnesses would not be necessary because the records show that the patrolman was killed and that his murderer was in prison, but the main point would be to determine whether a murder would be classed as an accident.

The case of Thomas J. Evans against Innis, Pearce and Company, a claim for partial disability for 500 weeks, was heard by the representative of the board. Attorneys for a liability insurance company fought the case for the local concern. The plaintiff alleged that he sustained a rupture while in the employ of the Rushville factory.

A claim filed by William Pea, Sr., against James Worth the "Joplin millionaire," was dismissed before the case was called this morning. In this claim the plaintiff demanded $407 damages when he alleged that he suffered injuries from a fall from a step ladder while performing some work for the defendant.

A fourth claim involving a Rush-

GIRL HAD PAINFUL TIMES

Mothers—Read This Letter and Statement Which Follows

Portland, Indiana.—"I was troubled with irregularity and constipation and lie down because of pains. One Sunday my aunt was visiting us and she said her girls took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got well, so mother said she guessed she would let me try it. It is doing me good and I praise it highly. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial." — STELLA NEWTON, R. R. 8, Portland, Indiana.

Mothers—You should carefully guard your daughter's health. Advise her of the danger which comes from standing around with cold or wet feet, from lifting heavy articles, or overworking. Do not let her overstudy.

If she complains of headache, pains in back or lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, give her careful attention.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for your daughter to take, as it is especially adapted to relieve just such symptoms. Remember it contains nothing that can injure and can be taken in safety.

POLICE HEADS ARE IN A CONVENTION

Executives From Every State In The Union Gather At San Francisco
To Discuss Problems

NOTED MEN TO SPEAK

Traffic Control And New Methods Of Identification Were Two Important
Items To Be Discussed

San Francisco, June 20 —Crooks declared a holiday in San Francisco today.

They considered the time inopportune for extensive operations because police chiefs of the United States gathered here for the opening session of the annual convention of the police chiefs' association.

Two major problems were on the program for discussion.

First, attention was to be given traffic control, auto thefts and kindred subjects.

New methods of identification were to come next.

"Crime waves" were to get serious consideration.

"Since the beginning of the world war in 1914," said Major Richard Sylvester, former police superintendent of the District of Columbia, "a new generation of crime has sprung up in the United States."

He attributed this condition to lavish display of wealth, psychological reaction from war excitement, joy riding, closing of saloons and the flooding of the markets with fire arms following the war.

The session was called to order Monday by President August Vollmer, "scientific chief of police" of Berkeley, Cal. Routine business and appointment of committees were on today's program. The lectures, conferences, and addresses will begin at tomorrow's session.

When the chiefs aren't elevating their brows several inches, or aren't busying themselves looking up big words in the dictionary trying to find out what the lectures, arranged by Chief Vollmer, who hires college graduates for policemen, are all about, they will be royally entertained by the committee headed by Chief of Police Dan O'Brian of San Francisco.

Chief Vollmer has arranged a series of lectures by the most noted psychologists both here and abroad. One of the principal speakers will be Dr. M. Carrarra, world-famed criminologists of Turin, Italy who will discuss "Abnormal Psychology and the Criminal."

Heredity, environment, psychopathic personalities, feeble-mindedness, epilepsy, and insanity are other subjects of lectures.

Crime prevention, even more than crime detection, will be dwelt upon by the chiefs in their discussions, according to Chief Vollmer.

The problem of the automobile crook and the dope fiend, which during the past few years have increased the complexities of efficient detection of crime, will come in for exhaustive study.

Police corruption, dishonest juries and lawyers, bail bond, brokers, political interference with police efficiency and anarchy will also come up for lengthy discussion.

The administration of the police department, the organization of a department of maximum efficiency with the minimum expense to taxpayers, the education and training of police officers, and the latest wrinkles of keeping a bureau of records, especially the classifying fingerprints are also on the program.

The latest methods of criminal court procedure, including the preparation of cases and the evidence necessary, and the most recent developments of criminal investigation including practical demonstrations of "lie detectors" and similar devices form another division of study for the chiefs.

Among the noted psychologists who will speak are Dr. E. B. Hoag, Los Angeles, who will talk on "Feeble-mindedness;" Dr. Herman Adler, of Chicago, "Psychopathic Personalities;" Dr. Jan Don Ball, University of California, "Insanity;" Dr. Paul Bowers, U. S. Public Health Service Washington, D. C., "Epilepsy;" Dr. M. Carrarra, of Turin, Italy, "Abnormal Psychology and the Criminal." Chiefs from every state of the union are present, as well as numerous representatives from foreign countries.

AUSTRALIAN LEADS IN OPEN GOLF PLAY

Joe Kirkwood Steps Out In Front In Second Day Of Qualifying
Rounds Of British Match

HUTCHINSON'S CARD AT 149

Sandwich, England., June 20 — Joe Kirkwood, Australia, took the lead among the early players today in the second day of the qualifying rounds of the British open golf championship.

Playing over the difficult St. George's course, the Australian turned in a 72 which gave him a total of 147.

Jim Barnes, American open champion, the first of the Americans to go around today also did the course in a 72 which gave him a card of 154 for the two days.

The two courses were swept by a stronger breeze than prevailed on the opening day, but it was perfect golfing weather.

Joe Hutchinson, American ace and the present champion, failed to keep with the fast pace and dropped behind when he turned in a seventy one for a total of 149.

Harry Vardon, British pro, also slipped down a few places when he went around in eighty, making a total score of 152.

The Score Board

Yesterday's hero — Peters, a young pinch hitter, smacked a homer in the ninth with two on and gave the Phils a 8 to 6 victory over the Cubs.

Mostil tripled in the eighth inning and the White Sox beat the Senators 2 to 0.

Detroit made it seven in a row by downing the Red Sox, 11 to 9. Pratt hit a homer in the eighth with two on.

Babe Ruth hit his seventh homer and was later kicked out of the game. The Yanks made it eight losses in a row by dropping before the Indians 4 to 2.

Earl Smith drove in the three runs with a double and a homer but the Giants lost to the Cards, 5 to 4.

Jimmy Johnston singled in the 14th inning, went to second on Griffith's sacrifice and scored on Wheat's single, the Robins beating the Pirates 6 to 5. The Robins tied the score with four runs in the 9th.

McManus singled in the seventh inning and brought Tobin in from second with the tally that gave the Browns a 3 to 2 win over the Athletics.

For Better Citizens Better Service

TO promote the safety first movement, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has created within its own organization 24 separate and distinct inquisitorial bodies to investigate accidents involving Company motor equipment.

These bodies are called "Safety Courts."

The primary purpose of these courts is to reduce the hazard of automobile accidents on the public highway. This is directly in line with the policy of the Company to help the employee to a better understanding of his obligation to his fellow citizens.

The Court meets weekly and before it must appear any employee, whether manager or truck driver, who has been involved in an accident during the preceding week. The employee comes into court as defendant with his immediate superior as his attorney. The Chairman of the Safety Council is the judge. Other members of the Council serve as jurors.

When the investigation shows that the employee has been guilty of carelessness in observing traffic laws, penalties are fixed and punishment assessed by the jury. The punishment is often as novel as the plan itself. For instance, a truck driver recently convicted of carelessness was removed from his position and sentenced to work for two weeks in the Company warehouse as a common laborer.

The plan is in operation throughout the 11 Middle Western States served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and has been responsible for reducing automobile accidents approximately 50 percent.

The spirit which pervades the "Safety Court" is to inspire employees with a sense of their responsibility to the community. As in the case of the Annuity System, which gives the employee a feeling of security regarding his future, and in the case of the Stock Investment Plan to promote the desire to save, the "Safety Court" has as its object the making of better and more responsible citizens who will render continuous and greater service to society.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is continually studying methods for improved service through adjusting its organization to the constantly changing needs of the people of the Middle West.

MILROY TRUCK DRIVER AND WIFE ARE INJURED

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Murphy Suffer Severe Injuries When Machine is Forced Off Road

DRIVER OF CAR DIDN'T STOP

Carl Murphy, a truck driver of Milroy, was scratched and bruised and Mrs. Murphy, his wife, suffered severe injuries Sunday night about 11 o'clock, when the automobile truck in which they were riding was forced into the ditch north of Shelbyville, by another machine whose driver failed to give any road, and who did not stop following the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Murphy were taken to Shelbyville where their injuries were dressed, and they were later removed to their home in Milroy. Mrs. Murphy suffered a scalp wound caused by falling glass and her husband was cut and scratched about the face and neck.

The truck was loaded with hogs which were being taken to the Indianapolis market for Goldie Carr of Milroy, and none of the hogs was injured, nor was the automobile truck damaged as the result of the accident.

The accident happened near a bridge, and Mr. Murphy pulled out to one side to let another machine pass, but was forced into the ditch, breaking the windshield and other panes of glass in the cabin of the truck.

Board of Directors of Rush County
Farmers Association Adopts a Resolution

AT MEETING MONDAY NIGHT

Believes Farmers of Rush County
Should Know Record of Man
Operating in County

The following resolution was adopted by the board of directors
of the Rush County Farmers' association, meeting in the court house,
Monday evening:

Whereas, The Indiana Farmer's
Guide has published repeated warnings concerning the operations of one Doctor Nolan, and the sale of his remedies to livestock breeders and
feeders in the state of Indiana,

Be it resolved by the Board of Directors of the Rush County Farmers Association that the following
editorial which was published in the Guide of April 22, 1922, be called to the attention of the farmers of Rush
county:

The Case of Dr. Nolan

"Sometime ago we promised our readers the truth about D. W. Nolan
and his hog remedies as far as we could learn it exactly. Since that time we have spent a lot of time
and effort as well as money in an attempt to learn what the conclusions published before regarding this man, might perhaps be wrong
in spite of the many reports from the various sources about him. In short, we have tried to secure an absolutely unbiased estimate of Nolan and his products as they exist in Indiana today, regardless of what they may have been in the past.

"We are now ready to state that
with one exception, there is no reason to change our previous report.
That exception has to do with the report of charges having been filed against him in Henry county. Those charges were in contemplation of
the statement was written by the local authorities decided to drop them, and so we must say that Nolan has not been sued in Henry county, Indiana.

"Nolan knowing that The Indiana
Farmer's Guide had repudiated him
openly, continued advertising in other papers misleading statements which give the impression that The Guide, farm bureaus and leading veterinarians are for him. This impression is corrected by many letters in our possession in which the various bodies repudiate Nolan and
his remedies.

"We have personally investigated
by letter or by visit or both, five cases in which Nolan has been instrumental in the use of his remedies. Over 50 per cent of the cases report decidedly unsuccessful results. Some claim good results
and some are very uncertain.

HOG TOUR IS POSTPONED

Will Not Be Held Thursday On Account Of Busy Season

On account of the advance of the season and the fact that farmers
will be in the midst of hay and grain
harvest this week, the committee in charge of the hog tour scheduled for Thursday has decided to postpone it
indefinitely.

Another date will be set later on
as the committee has not given up
the idea of holding the tour. These tours have been so enjoyed and appreciated in the past that the organization under whose auspices they
have been held wishes to continue
the practice of conducting an annual tour.

DODDER DUE IN JUNE AND JULY

Will Begin to Show up in Clover and Alfalfa in Form of Straw-
Colored Patches

SHOULD BE CUT CLOSE

A. A. Hansen, Purdue Botanist Says
Cut Areas Should be Burned
To Free Land of Plant

During June and July dodder will begin to show up in clover and alfalfa in the form of straw-colored
patches scattered through the fields.

"As soon as the patches are noticed, they should be cut close to
the ground and the cut plants allowed to dry so they may be burned,"
said A. A. Hansen, botanist of the Agricultural Extension Department of Purdue University. "If difficulty is experienced in getting a fire, it is best to cover the cut areas
with dry straw before burning.

"Sometimes the dodder patches
are so numerous that burning is
not practicable. The most economical treatment in such a case is to
spray the patches with a solution
of sodium arsenite using a compressed air sprayer for the purpose.
Unless this is done, the patches will
spread until they will eventually ruin
the crop and foul the land with dod-der seeds. Badly infested clover and alfalfa may be utilized by plowing
under as green manure providing
dodder seeds have not formed."

Dodder is a twining, vine-like parasite that is usually introduced by means of impure seed. It has the reputation of being the worst seed in clover and alfalfa, which are the
only crops damaged to any extent
by the pest. During the past decade,
large areas in the western clover
and alfalfa seed-producing states
have been practically ruined by dodder.

Since a great deal of western seed
is used in Indiana, special care

COMPETENT MAN TO CULL HENS IN FALL

Great Amount of Interest in This
Work in County Has Developed
During Last Three Years

PROFIT WILL BE INCREASED

Number of Applications For Culling
Have Been Received and Farmers
Are Urged to See County Agent

Rush County is fortunate in having been able to hire a competent
man to cull hens this fall, as there
has developed a great amount of interest in this work during the past three years. Experience of poultry raisers who have been culling their flocks proves that for success in poultry raising, it is of vital importance that all hens having low
egg production be removed from the flock.

If the flock is culled consistently
year after year, the profit from the
flock will be increased very materially, as the average number of eggs produced per hen will be increased, the eggs will be produced
more economically, and better breeding stock will become available.
Better breeding stock will, in turn,
mean stronger, healthier, more liv-
able chicks.

It has been observed that those
hens which lay less than 100 eggs
per a hen a year, lay nearly all of these eggs in the spring and early
summer, when eggs bring the lowest market price. That is, they lay only three to five months and loaf the rest of the year. The high producing hens are those that lay while the poor hens are loafing. They lay 10
to 12 months out of the year instead
of only three to five months.

By close study of the poor and
good producers, a method of picking out the loafing hen from the flock
has been developed, which is revolutionizing poultry-raising with an accompanying increase in poultry
profits.

The best time to cull the flocks is
in August and September, as about
this time the poor layers will begin
to stop laying and there will be a noted drop in the production of the flock. In flocks that are indifferently
fed, this drop in egg production may come as early as June. It is an advantage to cull at this time of the year.

CLOVER MILDEW IN APPEARANCE

Fungous Disease is Affecting Fields
in Southern Indiana But
Damage is Not Expected

GROWS ON THE SURFACE

No Practical Remedy is Suggested
But Powdered Sulphur Will Aid in The Control

A fungous disease known as the Powdery Mildew of Clover is unusually abundant throughout southern Indiana this season and a large number of inquiries have been received by the Botanical and Veterinary Departments of the Purdue
University Agricultural Experiment
Station. This disease shows as a whitish powdery mold on the surface of the leaves, appearing as though lime had been sprinkled over
the fields.

As a plant disease it is not anticipated that very much damage will result. The fungus grows on the surface of the leaves and usually does not kill the tissues. If, because of this disease, the foliage seems
to be drying up prematurely, growers
are advised to cut early. It is not anticipated that this fungus will re-
appear on the second crop in as
great abundance unless wet weather
should prevail.

There is no evidence available
that any serious damage to the feeding value of the clover hay will result because of the presence of the mildew or that there is any likelihood of danger to stock from feeding hay affected with this mildew.
Cases of stomatitis or inflammation
of the mouth have been attributed
to this mildew, but there seems to be no conclusive evidence that this
is really the cause.

Just why this disease should be
so abundant this year is difficult
to say, but some peculiarity of the season has enabled the fungus to develop to its maximum capacity.
The extremely wet weather this spring was doubtless largely responsible, also the fact that the mildew was noted to be quite abundant on the clover last fall. It is not a new disease on clover, but rarely develops as abundantly as
it has this year.

Many persons have asked if this

COCCIDIOSIS IS GENERAL OVER STATE

Disease is Prevalent This Year in Chicks From 4 to 12 Weeks
of Age, Purdue Reports

METHODS OF CONTROL

Coccidiosis, the disease which is prevalent this year in Rush county,
is serious generally all over the state, according to word from the Department of Veterinary Science
at Purdue University. The disease is prevalent this year in chicks from 4 to 12 weeks of age and in many
flocks the death loss is heavy.

The disease manifests itself by causing the chicks to become un-
thrifty; the feathers are ruffled, and
the affected chicks appear drowsy
before death. In severe cases the droppings of affected chicks are bloody.

As a means of controlling the disease, it is recommended that the house and yards be kept as clean
as possible; and that powdered
crude catechu be given in the drinking water at the rate of one-third
of catechu per gallon of drinking water.

Another simple remedy recommended is muriatic acid in the drinking water at the rate of two teaspoons to a quart of water.

Indiana farmers and town poul-

of $11,716,745.

Approximately 55,983 tons of
this feed, having a retail value of

purchased by city and town backyard poultrymen.

Farmers, as well as back-yard

ufacturers to attach an official label
to each bag of feed and to guaran-

that is in the bag.

NEW FIRM TAKES LEAD IN MARKET

Producers' Commission Association
Handled 64 Car Load Of Stock
During Second Week

AT INDIANAPOLIS EXCHANGE

This Period Also Set Aside A Surplus Totalling 33 Percent More
Than The Cost Of Operation

The producers are in first place at Indianapolis. The Producers' Commission Association, which opened
for business at the Indianapolis stock
yards on May 15, in the second week
of its existence handled 64 straight
carloads of live stock and approximately 25 carloads of trucked-in hogs. This put the co-operative in the lead of all the 19 firms doing
business at this point.

The other co-operative commission
house established by the National Live Stock Producers' Association,
the Producers' Live Stock Commission Association at East St. Louis,
went into first place among the 55
companies at that point, during its eighth week.

In its second week, the Indianapolis co-operative set aside a surplus
totaling 33 1/2 percent more than the cost of operation. F. M. Sampson
who was assigned by the national office to start the producers' companies at both East St. Louis and Indianapolis, reports some interesting experiences. At Indianapolis
the old-line commission men have for
years advised the farmers that hogs
must be kept "stirred up" in the
yards in order to take on good fills.
The producers' representatives called
this practice pure buncombe, and
on Monday sent out the following
notice to its customers:

"This is your company. Because
of the fact that you own and control
the Producers, it is up to us to guard
your interest at all times. We are going to handle your shipments in
the way you want them handled, and
all you need to do is just to let us
know your wishes.

"Some of our customers seem to think that in order to get a fill that
hogs should be kept 'stirred up' all of the time. The proof is all in favor of the opposite being done. A hog lies down when he is full. Then
if he is caused to get up and move
around, he loses in water and manure more than he again takes in.
The ideal time to weigh a hog, from
the standpoint of 'fill' is just when he is ready to lie down. Our yard employees are all instructed not to
stir the hogs any more than necessary, unless you as a shipper ask
that they be stirred.

"To date many of our customers
have complimented our market
weights very highly. We have been following the practice of providing

 plenty of feed and water and then leaving the hogs alone. The experience of our men at St. Louis is in accord with our method of filling hogs. In fact, we do not know of a single market, outside of Indianapolis, where the practice of 'stirring' hogs is followed. We believe these facts should convince you of the soundness of our method of handling hogs. However, we are here to serve you and if you want your hogs 'stirred' we will do it."

"Stirring" seems likely to become a back-number at Indianapolis, even among the commission men who have listed it as one of their best "services."

Incidental to the advent of the co-operatives, farmers note other improvements in the service of the old line companies. Exchange members have ordered their yardmen at Indianapolis to be a little more patient with the slow hogs and not shunt them off with the cripples. The slow hogs are going into sales pens now, thanks to another lesson learned from the "outlaw" Producers.

The Producers companies do not charge any commission for buying live stock. They are owned and controlled by the farmers themselves

COMMERCIAL FEED
 PROTECTED BY LAW

State Chemist E. G. Proulx at the Agricultural Experiment Station at Purdue University caused to be collected in 1921 some 3,125 samples of commercial feeds. These individual samples in many instances represented carload shipments and were taken from every section of the state. An inspection sample was secured for every 91 tons of commercial feeds sold in the state during 1921. Of the 3,125 samples secured 369 were simply evidence samples, being mostly from shipments previously analyzed and were subjected to microscopic analysis only. The remaining 2,760 samples were analyzed and the analysis compared with the guarantee of the manufacturer. Individual reports of analysis were made to the manufacturer, dealer and consumer as soon as completed.

The year's inspection shows that 2,163 samples were found up to and better than the guarantee of the manufacturer. Of the 593 samples found incorrectly guaranteed, 290 of them would be classed as different from the guarantee in minor particulars only, and 295 samples would be classed as seriously deficient and not sold in compliance with the feed law.

Shipments found to be seriously deficient were promptly removed from sale and the manufacturer either replaced the shipment with feed up to the guarantee or else re-labeled the feed with a correct guarantee. Where deficient feed had already been sold, refunds were in most cases made to the dealers and consumers by the manufacturer.

The results of this work are described in Bulletin No. 260 issued by the Agricultural Experiment Station of Purdue. This bulletin may be obtained free on request.

The other half received a simple treatment prepared by a local veterinarian at 75 cents per pint. One more pig died under the Nolan treatment than under the other.

"We recommend to all persons with sick hogs that they consult their local veterinarians, after assuring themselves that these veterinarians are of known ability and standing in the profession.

"If it is deemed wise we may later publish a full account of this man and his dealings with Indiana farmers, as well as his dealings elsewhere.

"We might say that this investigation of Dr. Nolan is but part of the work we are doing in protecting our readers against imposition, a service that has saved them thousands of dollars during the past several years. Our readers have learned to look to us to keep them informed on matters of this kind."

year also because of the saving in winter feed.

A number of applications for culling have already been received and farmers who want their flocks culled will do well to get in touch with the county agent at once and make application, as the culling agent will be in the county only two weeks and can take care of only about sixty flocks in that time.

It was previously announced that the minimum fee will be $2 for a flock of 100 hens, but the county agent points out that if the fall schedule is filled, that is, sixty applications are sent in for the work, the fee will likely not be over $1.50 for a flock of 100 hens. The plan is to charge merely enough to take care of the actual expenses of the work.

MULE IN A BULL PEN

Indianapolis, June 19 -- A gallon and a quart jar of white mule in a watering trough in a bull pen at the stockyards brought grief to Archie Wade.

"You ought to know better than to try to keep white mule in a bull pen," consoled Sergeant Hudson of the raiding squad.

HOOSIER
 SAVES MILES OF STEPS

A Better Work-Room for Mother

Think of the hours Mother spends in her "work-shop"—cooking, canning, dish-washing, baking, planning, and a million other things.

Sometimes things are not at all handy, but Mother never seems to complain. And perhaps we think it is all right with her and never give the matter a thought. The other rooms seem so much more important because we spend more time there. We do not have to work in the kitchen.

BUT MOTHER KNOWS

How many steps a HOOSIER Kitchen Cabinet would save. She knows her utensils and materials could be together in one place—so handy and convenient. Her kitchen would be so much neater and her work would not take nearly so long. She would have more time to spend on the hundred and one other things demanded of her. A little white enamel table with porcelain top would delight her, too—would help turn work into pleasure.

Bring Mother in and see the HOOSIER Cabinets and other labor-saving devices for the kitchen. We will be very glad to show you, and the cost is very reasonable.

Cabinets range in price from $9.00 to $85.00

PURDUE BUILDS UP A RUN DOWN FARM

Annex Farm Near Bedford Illustrates What Science Will do to Put Farm on a Paying Basis

IMPROVE LARGE ORCHARDS

Two Series of Soil Fertility Tests
Are Being Started to Determine
Best Crop Production Method

What science will do to put a farm on paying basis, even in the trying times of the last two years, is well illustrated on the Moses Fell Annex farm near Bedford, which was given to Purdue University agricultural Experiment Station in 1914 by Moses Fell Duff and Miss Antoinette Fell, "to make a thorough study of the agricultural problems of southern Indiana and to determine profitable methods of soil management, orchard management, crop and livestock production, and such other factors as would contribute to a better agriculture and more satisfying country life."

When work was undertaken the farm was producing 400 to 600 apples in an orchard covering about 80 acres of land. Peach, plum and pear trees had been planted among the apples throughout the orchard, but nearly all these and half of the apples were dead. The condition of the orchard was typical of the farm and its equipment. The underbrush, sassafras, hickory sprouts, locust trees, and buckbrush have been removed and dead apple trees replaced with young trees. The orchard now consists of 1100 bearing trees, and more than 1200 young trees planted to fill the vacancies. The old trees which were in poor condition have been brought into vigorous growth and profitable production. From 1000 to 7000 bushels of apples have been harvested each of the last six years.

A two acre peach orchard set in 1916 to study peach production had its first crop at four years old and produced about 300 bushels per acre. Last year a freeze killed the fruit but this year prospects are for a heavier crop than two years ago. Experiments in spraying the control of insects and blotch, fertilization, cultivation, pruning and other lines are in progress.

Two series of soil fertility tests are being started to determine the best method of crop production. These experiments involve the use of limestone, phosphate, manure, potash and nitrogen alone and various combinations of them. The untreated land has averaged 26.6 bushels of corn, three bushels of wheat and one half ton of hay per acre, refusing to grow clover. Manure on each corn crop has increased its yield to 36.9 bushels of corn, 3.8 bushels of wheat and 6 tons of hay per acre.

Phosphate in addition to manure increased these yields to 56.6 bushels of corn, 8.9 bushels of wheat and one ton of clover hay per acre. With corn worth 50 cents and wheat $1 per bushel and hay at $12.00 per ton, and acid phosphate costing $20. per ton, each dollar invested in phosphate has produced crop increases worth $5.65. Experiments over several years have shown that manure limestone and acid phosphate will give best returns on this soil.

A number of variety tests with fruit, and field crops are being carried on and experiments in the best methods of handling pastures are also underway.

Insect Notes

By J. J. DAVIS

(Department of Entomology)
(Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station).

The shot-hole borer was repeatedly reported last season from all parts of Indiana as killing or seriously damaging cherry, peach, plum, and other fruit trees. Numerous inquiries regarding this insect are certain to be received this season. The presence of these borers is indicated by the small round exit holes made by the adults as they issue and not infrequently the oozing of gum from the branches is an indication of an infestation. These borers attack trees in a weakened condition. Trees in a weakened condition or known to be infested should be treated with an application of nitrate of soda, 2 to 4 pounds to a tree, applications to be made before the middle of June.

The San Jose scale has been on the increase and many orchardists failed to fully spray with dormant spray this spring, resulting in a serious condition which may be responsible for the death of many trees before next spring if not remedied. A circular letter accompanies these notes and should be given wide publicity in your county if this scale is present.

The Chinch bugs have been issuing in all parts of the state the past two weeks. Many county agents and others have reported flights of the bugs and heavy infestations in grain fields and apparently the infestations this year will occur in many sections not infested last year. Plan to demonstrate the construction of the creosote barrier in your county before the bugs begin to migrate from grain to corn. Impress upon the farmers the necessity of co-operation and thoroughness in control of chinch bugs. Advise planting soy beans in corn.

The oyster shell scale is hatching at Lafayette. Hatching is indicated by the tiny white scales which will settle near the old scale. Spray about 10 days or two weeks after the young begin to hatch, using

To those who know this store's reputation for values, this headline tells mightily what is going to transpire in our suit department Thursday. More words are not necessary to impress upon them the importance of this offering, but we feel we ought to say a word or two to those, who for some reason, have yet to attend one of our sales. Comparison reveals true values—that's all we ask—go where you may—compare style for style, quality for quality, material for material, workmanship for workmanship. It is safe to predict that your suit will be bought here, and your name will be on our steady customer list.

ROBBERS FAIL AT FALMOUTH

Effort to Rob Safe Fails and Yeggmen Enter Jacob Gross Elevator Across the Street

NO CASH IS OBTAINED

Robbers Carry Revolver and Searchlight From Bank. But Make no Attempt to Blow Vault

ALSO VISIT BENTONVILLE

Steal From $8 to $10 at Pennsylvania Station—Strangers at Falmouth Bank Recently

Falmouth and Bentonville were visited by robbers during the night, where an attempt was made to get inside of the vault at the Falmouth bank, and in the safe at the Gross Elevator, also of Falmouth, and entrance made into the Pennsylvania railroad station at Bentonville, where between $8 and $10 were taken. No money was taken from the other two places.

As far as could be learned, no one in either of the two towns heard any noise, and the robberies were not discovered until daylight.

At the Falmouth Bank, the robbers forced their way in at the rear door, and instead of attempting to blow the vault door, the robbers began to bore through the plastering wall in hopes of reaching the interior of the safe.

The wall was very thick and after a considerable amount of plastering had been knocked off, they evidently abandoned their plans and went almost across the street to the Jacob Gross elevator.

At the bank, the only things missing this morning were a revolver and a searchlight. On the day of the robbery of the Pershing bank, on the National road northeast of Falmouth, three men were in Falmouth and stopped at the bank, and the cashier of the bank displayed a revolver at his window, and the trio soon left the town.

At the grain elevator the robbers pried open a window near the safe, and after getting on the inside they opened the outer door of the safe, but evidently gave up their hopes of getting on the inside where the valuables are kept. Mr. Gross did not discover anything missing today, and the robbers evidently were frightened away or else they were not prepared to blow a safe.

Up at Bentonville, four miles northeast of Falmouth, the robbers pried open the door at the station and ransacked the money drawer, which Calvin Robinson, the agent, stated contained between $8 and $10 in cash and which was taken. Nothing else was missed at the station.

At all three places the robbers missed things up, and scattered papers and articles all over the floor. There were no clues left by the robbers.

CONVENTION IN ROW OVER HOWAT CASE

Pres. Lewis of United Mine Workers Calls Illinois Delegate a Liar In Debate

ACCUSATION AGAINST LEWIS

(By United Press)

Ohio National Guard Armory, Cincinnati, June 20.—The American Federation of Labor got into a row today over Alexander Howat, Kansas mine leader now in prison.

During a heated debate on a resolution congratulating Howat and August Dorely, another mine leader, for their "courageous and steadfast determination to uphold the law," John L. Lewis called Joe Lynam of Peoria, Illinois, a liar.

Lynam, one of the authors of the resolution, charged Lewis was responsible for putting Howat and Dorely in jail, and said Lewis double-crossed them. "The gentleman is a liar," said Lewis.

The resolutions committee had recommended that the Howat resolution be referred to the United Mine Workers. Lynam objected to this, asserting that the American Federation of Labor is now trying to double-cross Howat the way John Lewis double-crossed him.

Lewis made a joint of order against Lynam, which President Gompers sustained. Lynam refused to be squelched, however, and continued to attack Lewis. When Gompers insisted that Lynam quit indulging in personalities, Lynam responded that he "couldn't help it." He declared Howat was in prison for trying to uphold the laws of the United Mine Workers.

ASA MILLER ADMITS MURDER OF FATHER

BODY FOUND LATE MONDAY

(By United Press)

Petersburg, Ind., June 20.—Asa Miller, 34, sitting on a cot in the county jail here today calmly told Sheriff Bryant why he killed his father, George Miller, 74, the sheriff said today.

The father's body was found late Monday by Charles Vaughn, a farmer in the yard of Miller's home, one mile west of Belton. The victims' head had been battered with a fence picket.

According to the coroner, the man had been dead since Friday. It all happened over some mules, Sheriff Bryant said Miller told him.

"My father refused to let me sell the mules, which I new I partly owned. We had an argument and he ran out of the house with a corn knife. He was almost upon me when I picked up the picket."

"Yes I hit him and I am not sorry of it either."

Unshaven, dressed in overalls, wearing a straw hat and gum boots, Miller slept soundly at the jail last night.

The coroner's investigation brought out that Miller and his father had quarrelled over the way the farm work should be done and that Miller struck his father over the head with the post.

Young Miller, according to the coroner, had served several years in prison for murdering a man in a Western state, and that he had also had attacked and beaten his father several years ago.

LAND SURVEYORS TO BE REGISTERED

Attention Called to Provisions of New Law in Letter Received by Local Officials

Act Effective May 31, 1922 Provides For Examination Before a License is Issued

Attention is called to the provisions of the law passed by the last general assembly, which became effective May 31 of this year, in letters received by Rush county and Rushville officials from the state board of registration for professional engineers and land surveyors.

The date beyond which it became unlawful to practice engineering or land surveying unless registered was December 31, 1921, the letter said. Those practicing at the time the act became effective were eligible for registration without examination until May 31, this year.

The letter continues:

"Section 1 states that it shall be unlawful for any persons to practice or offer to practice professional engineering or land surveying in Indiana unless such person has been duly registered under the provisions of this act.

"Section 13 provides that any person practicing or offering to practice after the act has been in effect six months (December 1, 1921), or who shall misrepresent his status, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall for each offense of which he is convicted be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500), or by imprisonment for three months, or by both fine and imprisonment."

"The act provides that each registrant shall obtain a seal of the design prescribed by the board, bearing the registrant's name and registration number and the legend 'professional engineer' or 'land surveyor' and this seal should appear on plans or plats submitted for filing or approval.

"There is on file with the secretary of state, as required by the act, a roster of all professional engineers and land surveyors granted certificates of registration by this board and this information is forwarded you that your attention may be called to the provisions of the act.

"The secretary of this board will be glad to furnish you further information upon request. A printed roster giving the names of all registered professional engineers and land surveyors will be mailed to you, upon request, as soon as same is available.

"What the board wished to do in sending out this letter was to warn local government officials against being duped in the letting of public contracts," DeWitt V. Moore, secretary of the board said. "The board itself has no power to enforce the act, but it desires to warn those who do have the power to report and prosecute violations of the law."

INTERFERENCE BY MINERS MUST STOP

Gov. McCray Informs Sheriff at Vincennes Full Power of State Will be Invoked if Needed

(By United Press)

Vincennes, Ind., June 20.—Full power of state government will be invoked to prevent interference with non-union wagon coal mines by striking miners if necessary, Governor McCray informed Sheriff Harry Adams in a letter today.

The governor advised Sheriff Adams to appoint as many deputies as he considered necessary to stop intimidation of miners working in the open shop mines. If these are not sufficient to cope with the situation, the governor said the whole power of the state will be thrown into the fight.

There are sixteen mines in Knox county and only eight of them failed to operate their property. Many of the mines in this county and other counties in the southern Indiana coal fields have been visited recently by raids of strikers. Warrants will be sworn out for the arrest of one hundred and fifty of the raiders.

Brazil, Ind., June 20.—Six hundred striking miners threatened to storm the jail where thirty-nine miners were held charged with inciting riot in closing wagon mines in Staunton last Wednesday.

Only on the plea of David Jones, executive board member of District 11 who persuaded the leaders to delay their action until the men had been given a chance to give bond, did the rioters disperse.

EVIDENCE IN TWO CASES IS HEARD

Judge Kenneth Dresser of State Industrial Board Holds Court in Rushville Today

WACHENDORF CLAIM IS FIRST

Records Showing Patrolman Was Killed, Are Introduced—T. J. Evans Seeks Compensation

The state industrial board was in session here this morning hearing the evidence on three cases filed with them for compensation under the workman's compensation law, and two of the cases were disposed of this morning and taken under advisement, while the third case was dismissed without trial.

Judge Kenneth Dresser of the state board and his stenographer were here and conducted the cases, and the evidence will be laid before the other members for decisions.

In the matter in which the City of Rushville was defendant, as filed by Mrs. Fred Wachendorf, widow of a city patrolman who was shot and killed, the case was soon put before the board without the introduction of witnesses.

In this action several points of law were to be considered by the board which will include a decision as to whether a murder is an accident. The compensation law covers accidents sustained by employees while employed and performing such duties as assigned.

Records were introduced to show that the policeman had been employed by the council. His hours were from noon until midnight, and the shooting took place shortly after midnight. The judge stated that witnesses would not be necessary because the records show that the patrolman was killed and that his murderer was in prison, but the main point would be to determine whether a murder would be classed as an accident.

The case of Thomas J. Evans against Inuis, Pearce and Company, a claim for partial disability for 500 weeks, was heard by the representative of the board. Attorneys for a liability insurance company fought the case for the local concern. The plaintiff alleged that he sustained a rupture while in the employ of the Rushville factory.

A claim filed by William Pea, Sr., against James Worth the "Joplin millionaire," was dismissed before the case was called this morning. In this claim the plaintiff demanded $407 damages when he alleged that he suffered injuries from a fall from a step ladder while performing some work for the defendant.

A fourth claim involving a Rushville factory.

SUITS SETTLED IN J. P. STECH'S COURT

Judgment Rendered For Sampson Poultry Co., And Replevin Suit Is Appealed

Elder, a suit on an account, judgment for the plaintiff was awarded when the defendant defaulted. The judgment and costs amounted to $40. The case had been continued several times.

In the suit of Fred Hilligoss against Larry Richey and Thomas Shroyer, which was a suit to replevin a horse, and which was decided recently in favor of the plaintiff, the defendant, Thomas Shroyer, today filed his appeal bond, and the case was appealed to the circuit court.

Two criminal cases, in which Carrie Horral is defendant, and Mrs. Gwynn, prosecuting witness have been set for trial on next Saturday night at eight o'clock. The cases have been continued for several days. The defendant is charged with evading a board bill and with provoke.

Portland, Indiana.—"I was troubled with irregularity and constipation and would often have to lie down because of pains. One Sunday my aunt was visiting us and she said her girls took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got well, so mother said she guessed she would let me try it. It is doing me good and I praise it highly. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial."

STELLA NEWTON, R. R. 8, Portland, Indiana.

Mothers—You should carefully guard your daughter's health. Advise her of the danger which comes from standing around with cold or wet feet, from lifting heavy articles, or overworking. Do not let her overstudy.

If she complains of headache, pains in back or lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, give her careful attention.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for your daughter to take, as it is especially adapted to relieve just such symptoms. Remember it contains nothing that can injure and can be taken in safety.

POLICE HEADS ARE IN A CONVENTION

Executives From Every State In The
Union Gather At San Francisco
To Discuss Problems

NOTED MEN TO SPEAK

Traffic Control And New Methods Of Identification Were Two Important
Items To Be Discussed

San Francisco, June 20 —Crooks declared a holiday in San Francisco today.

They considered the time inopportune for extensive operations because police chiefs of the United States gathered here for the opening session of the annual convention of the police chiefs' association.

Two major problems were on the program for discussion.

First, attention was to be given traffic control, auto thefts and kindred subjects.

New methods of identification were to come next.

"Crime waves" were to get serious consideration.

"Since the beginning of the world war in 1914," said Major Richard Sylvester, former police superintendent of the District of Columbia, "a new generation of crime has sprung up in the United States."

He attributed this condition to lavish display of wealth, psychological reaction from war excitement, joy riding, closing of saloons and the flooding of the markets with fire arms following the war.

The session was called to order Monday by President August Vollmer "scientific chief of police" of Berkeley, Cal. Routine business and appointment of committees were on today's program. The lectures, conferences, and addresses will begin at tomorrow's session.

When the chiefs aren't elevating their brows several inches, or aren't busying themselves looking up big words in the dictionary trying to find out what the lectures, arranged by Chief Vollmer, who hires college graduates for policemen, are all about, they will be royally entertained by the committee headed by Chief of Police Dan O'Brian of San Francisco.

Chief Vollmer has arranged a series of lectures by the most noted psychologists both here and abroad. One of the principal speakers will be Dr. M. Carrarra, world-famed criminologists of Turin, Italy who will discuss "Abnormal Psychology and the Criminal."

Heredity, environment, psychopathic personalities, feeble-mindedness, epilepsy, and insanity are other subjects of lectures.

Crime prevention, even more than crime detection, will be dwelt upon by the chiefs in their discussions, according to Chief Vollmer.

The problem of the automobile crook and the dope fiend, which during the past few years have increased the complexities of efficient detection of crime, will come in for exhaustive study.

Police corruption, dishonest juries and lawyers, bail bond, brokers, political interference with police efficiency and anarchy will also come up for lengthy discussion.

The administration of the police department, the organization of a department of maximum efficiency with the minimum expense to taxpayers, the education and training of police officers, and the latest wrinkles of keeping a bureau of records, especially the classifying fingerprints are also on the program.

The latest methods of criminal court procedure, including the preparation of cases and the evidence necessary, and the most recent developments of criminal investigation including practical demonstrations of "lie detectors" and similar devices form another division of study for the chiefs.

Among the noted psychologists who will speak are Dr. E. B. Hoag, Los Angeles, who will talk on "Feeble-mindedness;" Dr. Herman Adler, of Chicago, "Psychopathic Personalities;" Dr. Jan Don Ball, University of California, "Insanity;" Dr. Paul Bowers, U. S. Public Health Service Washington, D. C., "Epilepsy;" Dr. M. Carrarra, of Turin, Italy, "Abnormal Psychology and the Criminal." Chiefs from every state of the union are present, as well as numerous representatives from foreign countries.

BAPTISTS MEET AUG 12-19

—Mrs. Wade Sherman has gone to Newark, Ohio for an extended visit with relatives.

—Miss Mildred Newbold has returned home from a few days visit with friends in Indianapolis.

—George Watson of Bloomington, Ill., was here Monday afternoon on business and while here visited the members of the fire department. He is a fireman in his home city.

—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oliver and daughters have returned to their home in Muncie after spending the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Newbold of Milroy, and visiting relatives in this city.

GUARD THE TONGUE.—Keep thy tongue from evil, and thy lips from speaking guile. Depart from evil, and do good; seek peace, and pursue it.—Psalm 34: 13, 14.

Prohibition Beneficial

Answers made to a questionnaire by leaders of both capital and labor testify to the worth of prohibition. They were printed in a recent issue of the Manufacturers' Record and quote such men as Elbert H. Gary of the steel corporation and Warren E. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Several Indiana manufacturers and professional men are also quoted.

In the meantime, enforcement of the prohibition law is becoming more effective. We have the testimony of Federal Commissioner Haynes, based on reports from all reports of the United States and its possessions, to bear out this statement.

The Manufacturers' Record sent out inquiries to labor leaders, factory owners, social workers, college professors and many others, asking their opinion of prohibition thus far. Thousands of answers were returned and tabulated as follows: For prohibition in some form, 98.50 per cent; against prohibition, 1.50 per cent; for strict prohibition, 85.50 per cent; for beer and wine, 7 per cent; against Volstead law or present regulations, 1.25 per cent; for Volstead law modification, 75 per cent; for high license and government control, 1 per cent; for dispensary system, 25 per cent; undecided or noncommittal, 2.75 per cent.

Commissioner Haynes writes that accumulative evidence entirely and conclusively disproves recent unfounded statement of propagandists designed to deceive the public, but which, in truth, have steeled the friends of enforcement to closer cooperation and more concerted activities.

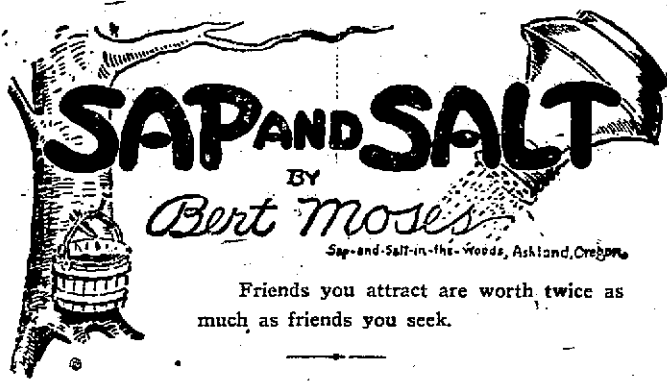

"The facts are," says Commissioner Haynes, "that real liquor for beverage purposes is practically unavailable, the bootlegger market is diminishing daily, because of universal fear of their poisonous product, the home brew fad is waning and moonshiners are on the run, all brought about by cutting off sources of supply, co-operation on the part of enforcement agencies of every character backed by a crystallized public sentiment, an aroused press and helpful cartoonists, more convictions by juries and sterner, stiffer sentences by courts. The action of Chambers of Commerce, Rotary, Kiwanis and similar organizations and prominent clubs in practically every state is most significant and testifies indisputably that the people are emphatic in their desire for strict enforcement, and it is unnecessary to state, that when America wills, America's will prevails.

"Perhaps the most encouraging recent development is the manifestation of genuine cooperation on the part of the police in large metropolitan centers. Such powerful forces, united in the campaign for constructive enforcement, is most significant.

"The 18th amendment is being enforced to a greater extent than was ever dreamed possible, and it is a pleasure to commend the progress that is being made in your state through your excellent corps of enforcement officials."

AMUSEMENTS

In Big Supporting Cast

One of the greatest supporting casts ever assembled for a single production appears with Pauline Frederick in her latest R. C. Production "The Glory of Clementina" at the Mystic again today.

Among the many prominent players are Louise Dresser, world-famous musical comedy and vaudeville star who is making her debut on the screen; Truly Shattuck, whose following on the screen and in musical comedy is numbered by millions; Edward Martindel, an actor of high distinction; Edward Hearn, George Cowl, Lincoln Plummer, Wilson Hummel, Baby Helen Stone, Lydia Yeamans Titus and Jean Calhoun.

Based on the memorable novel "The Glory of Clementina," written by Wm. J. Locke, this most recent Pauline Frederick starring vehicle is a production of high dramatic quality, the theme of which is the rejuvenation of a woman, who is an artistic genius. She had abandoned everything in her pursuit of artistic fame. She had stifled every natural instinct within her. But the touch of a baby's hand on her cheek, the music of a baby's chat, reawakened within her the glory of womanhood and she wins enduring happiness in the end.

"Shattered Idols" Again Today.

"Shattered Idols," formerly titled "A Bride of the Gods," the big seven-reel special production of J. L. Frothingham, distributed by Associated First National Pictures, Inc., which opened last night at the Princess theatre, is all that has been claimed for it—one of the greatest spectacles yet made in America. The picture will be seen again today.

A thrilling story, interpreted by an all-star cast such as has seldom been assembled in a single production. "A Bride of the Gods" is a picture that keeps the audience gripping their seats from the opening scene until the fade-out.

It is a story filled with the barbaric splendor of India and the staid convention of England. It is a story of India's smoldering fires of sedition against domination by the white man. The plot is not only full of suspense, but is pregnant with heart interest. This is remarkable in such a lavish production since most producers lose their sense of human interest in their efforts to outstrip others in the spectacular and bizarre.

"Shattered Idols" contain every element which is necessary to a successful production, and is interpreted by a cast containing such famous names as Margarita De La Motte, William V. Mong, Ethel Grey Terry, James Morrison, Louise Lovely, Frankie Lee, Mary Wynn, and many others almost as equally well known.

AUSTRALIAN LEADS IN OPEN GOLF PLAY

Joe Kirkwood Steps Out In Front In Second Day Of Qualifying Rounds Of British Match

HUTCHINSON'S CARD AT 149

Sandwich, England, June 20 — Joe Kirkwood, Australia, took the lead among the early players today in the second day of the qualifying rounds of the British open golf championship.

Playing over the difficult St. George's course, the Australian turned in a 72 which gave him a total of 147.

Jim Barnes, American open champion, the first of the Americans to go around today also did the course in a 72 which gave him a card of 154 for the two days.

The two courses were swept by a stronger breeze than prevailed on the opening day, but it was perfect golfing weather.

Jack Hutchinson, American ace and the present champion, failed to keep with the fast pace and dropped behind when he turned in a seventy one for a total of 149.

Harry Vardon, British pro, also slipped down a few places when he went around in eighty, making a total score of 152.

The Score Board

Yesterday's hero — Peters, a young pinch hitter, smacked a homer in the ninth with two on and gave the Phils a 8 to 6 victory over the Cubs.

Mostil tripled in the eighth inning and the White Sox beat the Senators 2 to 0.

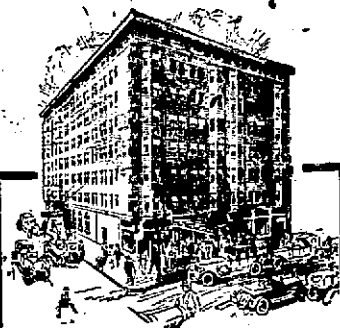

Detroit made it seven in a row by downing the Red Sox, 11 to 9. Pratt hit a homer in the eighth with two on.

Babe Ruth hit his seventh homer and was later kicked out of the game. The Yanks made it eight losses in a row by dropping before the Indians, 4 to 2.

Earl Smith drove in the three runs with a double and a homer but the Giants lost to the Cards, 5 to 4.

Jimmy Johnston singled in the 14th inning, went to second on Griffith's sacrifice and scored on Wheat's single, the Robins beating the Pirates 6 to 5. The Robins tied the score with four runs in the 9th.

McManus singled in the seventh inning and brought Tobin in from second with the tally that gave the Browns a 3 to 2 win over the Athletics.

For Better Citizens Better Service

TO promote the safety first movement, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has created within its own organization 24 separate and distinct inquisitorial bodies to investigate accidents involving Company motor equipment.

The primary purpose of these courts is to reduce the hazard of automobile accidents on the public highway. This is directly in line with the policy of the Company to help the employee to a better understanding of his obligation to his fellow citizens.

The Court meets weekly and before it must appear any employee, whether manager or truck driver, who has been involved in an accident during the preceding week. The employee comes into court as defendant with his immediate superior as his attorney. The Chairman of the Safety Council is the judge. Other members of the Council serve as jurors.

When the investigation shows that the employee has been guilty of carelessness in observing traffic laws, penalties are fixed and punishment assessed by the jury. The punishment is often as novel as the plan itself. For instance, a truck driver recently convicted of carelessness was removed from his position and sentenced to work for two weeks in the Company warehouse as a common laborer.

The plan is in operation throughout the 11 Middle Western States served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and has been responsible for reducing automobile accidents approximately 50 percent.

The spirit which pervades the "Safety Court" is to inspire employees with a sense of their responsibility to the community. As in the case of the Annuity System, which gives the employee a feeling of security regarding his future, and in the case of the Stock Investment Plan to promote the desire to save, the "Safety Court" has as its object the making of better and more responsible citizens who will render continuous and greater service to society.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is continually studying methods for improved service through adjusting its organization to the constantly changing needs of the people of the Middle West.

MILROY TRUCK DRIVER AND WIFE ARE INJURED

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Murphy Suffer Severe Injuries When Machine is Forced Off Road

DRIVER OF CAR DIDN'T STOP

Carl Murphy, a truck driver of Milroy, was scratched and bruised and Mrs. Murphy, his wife, suffered severe injuries Sunday night about 11 o'clock, when the automobile truck in which they were riding was forced into the ditch north of Shelbyville, by another machine whose driver failed to give any road, and who did not stop following the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Murphy were taken to Shelbyville where their injuries were dressed, and they were later removed to their home in Milroy. Mrs. Murphy suffered a scalp wound caused by falling glass and her husband was cut and scratched about the face and neck.

The truck was loaded with hogs which were being taken to the Indianapolis market for Goldie Carr of Milroy, and none of the hogs was injured, nor was the automobile truck damaged as the result of the accident.

The accident happened near a bridge, and Mr. Murphy pulled out to one side to let another machine pass, but was forced into the ditch, breaking the windshield and other panes of glass in the cabin of the truck.

CALLS ATTENTION TO NOLAN ACTIVITIES

Board of Directors of Rush County
Farmers Association Adopts a Resolution

AT MEETING MONDAY NIGHT

Believes Farmers of Rush County
Should Know Record of Man
Operating in County

The following resolution was
adopted by the board of directors
of the Rush County Farmers' association, meeting in the court house,
Monday evening:

Whereas, The Indiana Farmer's
Guide has published repeated warn-
ings concerning the operations of one Doctor Nolan, and the sale of his
remedies to livestock breeders and
feeders in the state of Indiana,

Be it resolved by the Board of Directors of the Rush County Farmers Association that the following
editorial which was published in the Guide of April 22, 1922, be called to
the attention of the farmers of Rush
county:

The Case of Dr. Nolan

"Sometime ago we promised our
readers the truth about D. W. Nolan
and his hog remedies as far as we could learn it exactly. Since that time we have spent a lot of time
and effort as well as money in an
attempt to learn what the conclusions published before regarding this man, might be wrong. In spite of the many reports from the various sources about him. In short, we have tried to secure an absolutely unbiased estimate of Nolan and his products as they exist in Indiana today, regardless of what they may have been in the past.

"We are now ready to state that
with one exception, there is no reason to change our previous report.
That exception has to do with the
report of charges having been filed
against him in Henry county. Those
charges were in contemplation of
the statement was written by local authorities decided to drop them,
and so we must say that has not been sued in Henry county, Indiana.

"Nolan knowing that The Indiana
Farmer's Guide had repudiated him
openly, continued advertising in other papers misleading statements which give the impression that The Guide, farm bureaus and legal veterinarians are for him. This impression is corrected by many letters in our possession in which various bodies repudiate Nolan and
his remedies.

"We have personally investigated
by letter or by visit or both, for five cases in which Nolan has been instrumental in the use of his remedies. Over 50 per cent of the cases report decidedly unsatisfactory results. Some claim good results
and some are very uncertain.

HOG TOUR IS POSTPONED

Will Not Be Held Thursday On Ac-
count Of Busy Season

On account of the advance of the
season and the fact that farmers
will be in the midst of hay and grain
harvest this week, the committee in charge of the hog tour scheduled for Thursday has decided to postpone it
indefinitely.

Another date will be set later on
as the committee has not given up
the idea of holding the tour. These
tours have been so enjoyed and appreciated in the past that the organization under whose auspices they
have been held wishes to continue
the practice of conducting an annual tour.

DODDER DUE IN JUNE AND JULY

Will Begin to Show up in Clover and Alfalfa, in Form of Straw-
Colored Patches

SHOULD BE CUT CLOSE

A. A. Hansen, Purdue Botanist Says
Cut Areas Should be Burned
To Free Land of Plant

During June and July dodder will
begin to show up in clover and alfalfa in the form of straw-colored
patches scattered through the fields.

"As soon as the patches are noticed, they should be cut close to
the ground and the cut plants allowed to dry so they may be burned."
said A. A. Hansen, botanist of the Agricultural Extension Department of Purdue University. "If difficulty is experienced in getting a
fire, it is best to cover the cut areas
with dry straw before burning.

"Sometimes the dodder patches
are so numerous that burning is
not practicable. The most economical treatment in such a case is to
spray the patches with a solution
of sodium arsenite using a com-
pressed air sprayer for the purpose.
Unless this is done, the patches will
spread until they will eventually ruin
the crop and foul the land with dod-
der seeds. Badly infested clover and
alfalfa may be utilized by plowing
under as green manure providing
dodder seeds have not formed."

Dodder is a twining, vine-like pa-
rasite that is usually introduced by means of impure seed. It has the reputation of being the worst seed in
clover and alfalfa, which are the
only crops damaged to any extent
by the pest. During the past decade,
large areas in the western clover
and alfalfa seed-producing states
have been practically ruined by
dodder.

Since a great deal of western seed
is used in Indiana, special care

COMPETENT MAN TO CULL HENS IN FALL

Great Amount of Interest in This
Work in County Has Developed
During Last Three Years

PROFIT WILL BE INCREASED

Number of Applications For Culling
Have Been Received and Farmers
Are Urged to See County Agent

Rush County is fortunate in having been able to hire a competent
man to cull hens this fall, as there
has developed a great amount of interest in this work during the past
three years. Experience of poultry
raisers who have been culling their
flocks proves that for success in
poultry raising, it is of vital importance that all hens having low
egg production be removed from the
flock.

If the flock is culled consistently
year after year, the profit from the
flock will be increased very materially, as the average number of
eggs produced per hen will be increased, the eggs will be produced
more economically, and better breeding stock will become available.
Better breeding stock will, in turn,
mean stronger, healthier, more liv-
able chicks.

It has been observed that those
hens which lay less than 100 eggs
per a hen a year, lay nearly all of
these eggs in the spring and early
summer, when eggs bring the lowest
market price. That is, they lay only
three to five months and loaf the
rest of the year. The high producing
hens are those that lay while the
poor hens are loafing. They lay 10
to 12 months out of the year instead
of only three to five months.

By close study of the poor and
good producers, a method of picking out the loafing hen from the flock
has been developed, which is revo-
lutionizing poultry-raising with an accompanying increase in poultry
profits.

The best time to cull the flocks is
in August and September, as about
this time the poor layers will begin
to stop laying and there will be a
noted drop in the production of the
flock. In flocks that are indifferently
fed, this drop in egg production may
come as early as June. It is an advantage to cull at this time of the

CLOVER MILDEW IN APPEARANCE

Fungous Disease is Affecting Fields
in Southern Indiana But
Damage is Not Expected

No Practical Remedy is Suggested
But Powdered Sulphur Will
Aid in The Control

A fungous disease known as the Powdery Mildew of Clover is un-
usually abundant throughout southern Indiana this season and a large
number of inquiries have been received by the Botanical and Veterinary Departments of the Purdue
University Agricultural Experiment
Station. This disease shows as a
whitish powdery mold on the sur-
face of the leaves, appearing as
though lime had been sprinkled over
the fields.

As a plant disease it is not anticipated that very much damage will
result. The fungus grows on the surface of the leaves and usually
does not kill the tissues. If, because
of this disease, the foliage seems
to be drying up prematurely, growers
are advised to cut early. It is not anticipated that this fungus will re-
appear on the second crop in as
great abundance unless wet weather
should prevail.

There is no evidence available
that any serious damage to the feeding value of the clover hay will result because of the presence of the
mildew or that there is any likelihood of danger to stock from feeding hay affected with this mildew.
Cases of stomatitis or inflammation
of the mouth have been attributed
to this mildew, but there seems to
be no conclusive evidence that this
is really the cause.

Just why this disease should be
so abundant this year is difficult
to say, but some peculiarity of the
season has enabled the fungus to
develop to its maximum capacity.
The extremely wet weather this
spring was doubtless largely responsible, also the fact that the
mildew was noted to be quite abundant on the clover last fall. It is not a new disease on clover, but
rarely develops as abundantly as
it has this year.

Many persons have asked if this

Disease is Prevalent This Year in Chicks From 4 to 12 Weeks
of Age, Purdue Reports

Coccidiosis, the disease which is
prevalent this year in Rush county,
is serious generally all over the
state, according to word from the Department of Veterinary Science
at Purdue University. The disease
is prevalent this year in chicks from 4 to 12 weeks of age and in many
flocks the death loss is heavy.

The disease manifests itself by
causing the chicks to become un-
thrifty; the feathers are ruffled, and
the affected chicks appear drowsy
before death. In severe cases the droppings of affected chicks are
bloody.

As a means of controlling the disease, it is recommended that the
house and yards be kept as clean
as possible; and that powdered
crude catechu be given in the drinking water at the rate of one-third
of catechu per gallon of drinking water.

Another simple remedy recommended is muriatic acid in the drinking water at the rate of two teaspoons to a quart of water.

Indiana farmers and town poul-

feeds at an estimated retail value
of $11,716,745.

Approximately 55,983 tons of
this feed, having a retail value of $2,878,717 was poultry scratch feed and poultry mash and was mostly
purchased by city and town back-
yard poultrymen.

Farmers, as well as back-yard
poultrymen, who buy one pound or a carload of commercial feed in Indiana, both have the benefit of the Indiana Commercial Feeding Stuffs Law which requires feed manufacturers to attach an official label
to each bag of feed and to guarantee on this label the kind of feed
that is in the bag.

NEW FIRM TAKES LEAD IN MARKET

Producers' Commission Association
Handled 64 Car Load Of Stock
During Second Week

AT INDIANAPOLIS EXCHANGE

This Period Also Set Aside A Sur-
plus Totalling 33 Percent More
Than The Cost Of Operation

The producers are in first place at Indianapolis. The Producers' Commission Association, which opened
for business at the Indianapolis stock
yards on May 15, in the second week
of its existence handled 64 straight
carloads of live stock and approximately 25 carloads of trucked-in hogs. This put the co-operative in
the lead of all the 19 firms doing
business at this point.

The other co-operative commission
house established by the National
Live Stock Producers' Association,
the Producers' Live Stock Commission Association at East St. Louis,
went into first place among the 55
companies at that point, during its
eighth week.

In its second week, the Indianapolis co-operative set aside a surplus
totaling 33 percent more than the cost of operation. F. M. Simpson
who was assigned by the national
office to start the producers' companies at both East St. Louis and Indianapolis, reports some interesting experiences. At Indianapolis
the old-line commission men have for
years advised the farmers that hogs
must be kept "stirred up" in the
yards in order to take on good fills.
The producers' representatives called
this practice pure buncombe, and
on Monday sent out the following
notice to its customers:

"This is your company. Because
of the fact that you own and control
the Producers, it is up to us to guard
your interest at all times. We are going to handle your shipments in
the way you want them handled, and
all you need to do is just to let us
know your wishes.

"Some of our customers seem to
think that in order to get a fill that
hogs should be kept 'stirred up' all
of the time. The proof is all in favor
of the opposite being done. A hog lies down when he is full. Then
if he is caused to get up and move
around, he loses in water and manure more than he again takes in.
The ideal time to weigh a hog, from
the standpoint of 'fill' is just when
he is ready to lie down. Our yard
employees are all instructed not to
stir the hogs any more than necessary, unless you as a shipper ask
that they be stirred.

"To date many of our customers
have complimented our market
weights very highly. We have been
following the practice of providing

plenty of feed and water and then leaving the hogs alone. The experience of our men at St. Louis is in accord with our method of filling hogs. In fact, we do not know of a single market, outside of Indianapolis, where the practice of 'stirring' hogs is followed. We believe these facts should convince you of the soundness of our method of handling hogs. However, we are here to serve you and if you want your hogs 'stirred' we will do it."

"Stirring" seems likely to become a back-number at Indianapolis, even among the commission men who have listed it as one of their best "services."

Incidental to the advent of the co-operatives, farmers note other improvements in the service of the old line companies. Exchange members have ordered their yardmen at Indianapolis to be a little more patient with the slow hogs and not shunt them off with the cripples. The slow hogs are going into sales pens now, thanks to another lesson learned from the "outlaw" Producers.

The Producers companies do not charge any commission for buying live stock. They are owned and controlled by the farmers themselves

State Chemist E. G. Proulx at the Agricultural Experiment Station at Purdue University caused to be collected in 1921 some 3,125 samples of commercial feeds. These individual samples in many instances represented carload shipments and were taken from every section of the state. An inspection sample was secured for every 91 tons of commercial feeds sold in the state during 1921. Of the 3,125 samples secured 369 were simply evidence samples, being mostly from shipments previously analyzed and were subjected to microscopic analysis only. The remaining 2,760 samples were analyzed and the analysis compared with the guarantee of the manufacturer. Individual reports of analysis were made to the manufacturer, dealer and consumer as soon as completed.

The year's inspection shows that 2,163 samples were found up to and better than the guarantee of the manufacturer. Of the 593 samples found incorrectly guaranteed, 290 of them would be classed as deficient from the guarantee in minor particulars only, and 295 samples would be classed as seriously deficient and not sold in compliance with the feed law.

Shipments found to be seriously deficient were promptly removed from sale and the manufacturer either replaced the shipment with feed up to the guarantee or else re-labeled the feed with a correct guarantee. Where deficient feed had already been sold, refunds were in most cases made to the dealers and consumers by the manufacturer.

only one case was a really fair trial made by dividing a pen of sick hogs. Half were treated with Nolan's remedy at his price of $3 per pint. The other half received a simple treatment prepared by a local veterinarian at 75 cents per pint. One more pig died under the Nolan treatment than under the other.

"We recommend to all persons with sick hogs that they consult their local veterinarians, after assuring themselves that these veterinarians are of known ability and standing in the profession.

"If it is deemed wise we may later publish a full account of this man and his dealings with Indiana farmers, as well as his dealings elsewhere.

"We might say that this investigation of Dr. Nolan is but part of the work we are doing in protecting our readers against imposition, a service that has saved them thousands of dollars during the past several years. Our readers have learned to look to us to keep them informed on matters of this kind."

A number of applications for culling have already been received and farmers who want their flocks culled will do well to get in touch with the county agent at once and make application, as the culling agent will be in the county only two weeks and can take care of only about sixty flocks in that time.

It was previously announced that the minimum fee will be $2 for a flock of 100 hens, but the county agent points out that if the full schedule is filled, that is, sixty applications are sent in for the work, the fee will likely not be over $1.50 for a flock of 100 hens. The plan is to charge merely enough to take care of the actual expenses of the work.

should be exercised against introducing dodder by this means. The number of dodder seeds per pound in seed purchased in Indiana in quantities of one pound or over, must be stated on the labels required by the new seed law. With this information, Indiana farmers can avoid introducing dodder by means of impure clover and alfalfa seed.

Think of the hours Mother spends in her "work-shop"—cooking, canning, dish-washing, baking, planning, and a million other things.

Sometimes things are not at all handy, but Mother never seems to complain. And perhaps we think it is all right with her and never give the matter a thought. The other rooms seem so much more important because we spend more time there. We do not have to work in the kitchen.

BUT MOTHER KNOWS

How many steps a HOOSIER Kitchen Cabinet would save. She knows her utensils and materials could be together in one place—so handy and convenient. Her kitchen would be so much neater and her work would not take nearly so long. She would have more time to spend on the hundred and one other things demanded of her. A little white enamel table with porcelain top would delight her, too—would help turn work into pleasure.

Bring Mother in and see the HOOSIER Cabinets and other labor-saving devices for the kitchen. We will be very glad to show you, and the cost is very reasonable.

Annex Farm Near Bedford Illustrates What Science Will do to Put Farm on a Paying Basis

Two Series of Soil Fertility Tests Are Being Started to Determine Best Crop Production Method

What science will do to put a farm on paying basis, even in the trying times of the last two years, is well illustrated on the Moses Fell Annex farm near Bedford, which was given to Purdue University agricultural Experiment Station in 1914 by Moses Fell Dunn and Miss Antoinette Fell, "to make a thorough study of the agricultural problems of southern Indiana and to determine profitable methods of soil management, orchard management, crop and livestock production, and such other factors as would contribute to a better agriculture and more satisfying country life."

When work was undertaken the farm was producing 400 to 600 apples in an orchard covering about 80 acres of land. Peach, plum and pear trees had been planted among the apples throughout the orchard, but nearly all these and half of the apples were dead. The condition of the orchard was typical of the farm and its equipment. The underbrush sassafras, hickory sprouts, locust trees, and buckbrush have been removed and dead apple trees replaced with young trees. The orchard now consists of 1100 bearing trees, and more than 1200 young trees planted to fill the vacancies. The old trees which were in poor condition have been brought into vigorous growth and profitable production. From 1000 to 7000 bushels of apples have been harvested each of the last six years.

A two acre peach orchard set in 1916 to study peach production had its first crop at four years old and produced about 300 bushels per acre. Last year a freeze killed the fruit but this year prospects are for a heavier crop than two years ago. Experiments in spraying the control of insects and blotch, fertilization, cultivation, pruning and other lines are in progress.

Two series of soil fertility tests are being started to determine the best method of crop production. These experiments involve the use of limestone, phosphate, manure, potash and nitrogen alone and various combinations of them. The untreated land has averaged 26.6 bushels of corn, three bushels of wheat and one half ton of hay per acre, refusing to grow clover. Manure on each corn crop has increased its yield to 36.9 bushels of corn, 3.8 bushels of wheat and 6 tons of hay per acre.

Phosphate in addition to manure increased these yields to 56.6 bushels of corn, 8.9 bushels of wheat and one ton of clover hay per acre. With corn worth 50 cents and wheat $1 per bushel and hay at $12.00 per ton, and acid phosphate costing $20. per ton, each dollar invested in phosphate has produced crop increases worth $5.65. Experiments over several years have shown that manure limestone and acid phosphate will give best returns on this soil.

A number of variety tests with fruit, and field crops are being carried on and experiments in the best methods of handling pastures are also underway.

Insect Notes

By J. J. DAVIS
(Department of Entomology)
(Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station).

The shot-hole borer was repeatedly reported last season from all parts of Indiana as killing or seriously damaging cherry, peach, plum, and other fruit trees. Numerous inquiries regarding this insect are certain to be received this season. The presence of these borers is indicated by the small round exit holes made by the adults as they issue and not infrequently the oozing of gum from the branches is an indication of an infestation. These borers attack trees in a weakened condition. Trees in a weakened condition or known to be infested should be treated with an application of nitrate of soda, 2 to 4 pounds to a tree, applications to be made before the middle of June.

The San Jose scale has been on the increase and many orchardists failed to fully spray with dormant spray this spring, resulting in a serious condition which may be responsible for the death of many trees before next spring if not remedied. A circular letter accompanies these notes and should be given wide publicity in your county if this scale is present.

The Chinch bugs have been issuing in all parts of the state the past two weeks. Many county agents and others have reported flights of the bugs and heavy infestations in grain fields and apparently the infestations this year will occur in many sections not infested last year. Plan to demonstrate the construction of the creosote barrier in your county before the bugs begin to migrate from grain to corn. Impress upon the farmers the necessity of co-operation and thoroughness in control of chinch bugs. Advise planting soy beans in corn.

The oyster shell scale is hatching at Lafayette. Hatching is indicated by the tiny white scales which will settle near the old scale. Spray about 10 days or two weeks after the young begin to hatch, using

Great 10 Day Underselling Campaign

At E. R. Casady's

If it is bargains you want—bargains in good dependable, style-correct merchandise—bargains that give the dollar a new delight in the satisfaction of his broadened powers—then come to Casady's Thursday morning, with the first of the throngs.

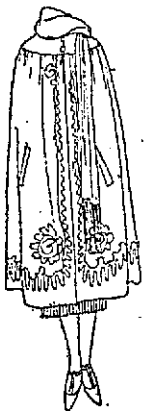

"Opportunity" is written all over this page—"opportunity" will greet you here during this sale—in every section.

Truth is Mighty

Maybe you think our salespeople are conservative in their estimate of the merchandise they sell, not as enthusiastic as the merchandise warrants. It is because they know that this store assumes the responsibility of standing behind every promise made by any of its salespeople. It is a policy that permits you to have perfect faith in any guarantee that is made and assures you that our salespeople never resort to the creation of a false impression for the sake of making a sale.

E. R. CASADY.

COATS It's A Clearance Opportunity

To see them is to know and appreciate our clearance policy. The models have been among the best sellers this season, and they are certainly still considered in the height of fashion. Many show the effective use of unique checked and plaid fabrics, and there are more dressy models in the most approved fabrics and colors. All are smart, becoming and distinctive.

Typical E. R. Casady July Reduction on SUITS

To those who know this store's reputation for values, this headline tells mightily what is going to transpire in our suit department Thursday. More words are not necessary to impress upon them the importance of this offering, but we feel we ought to say a word or two to those, who for some reason, have yet to attend one of our sales. Comparison reveals true values—that's all we ask—go where you may—compare style for style, quality for quality, material for material, workmanship for workmanship. It is safe to predict that your suit will be bought here, and your name will be on our steady customer list.
